CABLE MAY BE HANDED DRY PLANK

Stormy Southern Congressman Plans Job for Him

PROPOSES LIQUOR PROBE

Obsolete Committee, Headed by Lima Man, May Act

LIMA NEWS BUREAU,
365 Albee Bldg.,
Washington, D. C.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Texas, Democrat, the "stormy petrel" of the House of Representatives, is anxious to give Representative John L. Cable of Lima, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio, a hand carved prohibition plank for his platform.

Blanton has asked the House to authorize the Alcohol Liquor Traffic committee of which Cable is chairman, to conduct a thorough investigation of recent liquor scandals in Washington, including the reputed directorship of an Atlantic coast "rum ring" here and the disappearance of a list of bootleg patrons seized in a recent prohibition raid, said to have contained some 1,400 names.

CONSIDERED OBSOLETE

The committee of which Cable is now head has not held a meeting in six years and was considered entirely obsolete when the Lima congressman took it over. But adoption of Blanton's resolution, which is not at all unlikely, would give the Ohioan a chance to occupy the center of the limelight in a sensational investigation which might or might not produce some interesting evidence. Blanton would empower the committee to summon any and all witnesses necessary to gathering the facts it went after, regardless of their prominence in the national government or in capital social circles. It was whispered in Washington that the names of at least two cabinet officers were on the captured and missing "rum list," so prospective sensations seem linked with the Southerner's proposal.

RATED AN DRY
Cable himself is rated as "very dry," and will emphasize his dryness during the coming campaign. Inasmuch as several staunch dries will oppose him, he would probably welcome a chance to prove that he does not fear powerful political influences in an effort to ascertain the truth about prohibition violations "in the very shadow of the National Capitol."

DEMOCRATS MAY REVEAL PLANS

Jackson Day Banquet Expected to Bring Out Program

COLUMBUS. — (United Press.) — Tomorrow night the country may learn something of Democracy's presidential year program.

Unusual interest attaches to the annual Jackson Day banquet here because of the presence of James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, is expected to affirm or deny reports that he plans again to seek the nomination.

Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee, may make the banquet an occasion of outlining the national platform of the party.

The banquet in a way takes the place of the national Jackson Day celebration which has been abandoned for want of interest.

LEADER RESIGNS

Enzielos Quits Presidency of National Assembly

ATHENS. — (United Press.) — Enzielos has forced Eleutherios to resign the leadership of the assembly.

Returning in triumph, hailed the long man of his country, Enzielos as the former elected president of the national assembly than a troublemaker heart forced him to retire.

The president wrote to his followers that they must elect another leader "from the ranks of the Liberal party" and that if one could be found ready to undertake formation of a cabinet, Enzielos was determined to resign.

PLANT DESTROYED
ASHABULA. — The plant of the Ashabula Fish Co., including ice houses and fishing equipment, was destroyed by fire last night. Damage estimated at $100,000.

55 PERSONS DIE AS FRIGID WAVE GRIPS COUNTRY

Victims Claimed as Far South as Georgia—Five Perish In Ohio—Return of Zero Weather Due Tomorrow, Says the Forecaster

(UNITED PRESS)

Approximately 55 persons died, five of them in Ohio during the past 60 hours, as a result of the intense cold wave that swept the middle west and now centering in the east and south.

Many of the victims were frozen to death, others succumbed to exposure, still others were burned to death while seeking escape from the cold and others met death in accidents due to icy conditions.

Chicago leads with a total of 18 deaths.

New Orleans is next with six.

St. Louis reported five casualties.

Pittsburgh reported four.

Philadelphia, three.

Youngstown, one and Cleveland two.

Cities reporting one fatality included:

St. Paul, Denver, Henrietta, Oklahoma, Peoria, and Ullin, Ill.

Fayetteville, Tenn.; Point Pleasant, N. J.; Sheffield, Detroit and Opelika, Ala., and Dayton and Toledo, Ohio.

COLUMBUS. — (United Press.) —

The cold wave which held sway in Ohio since early Saturday abated somewhat over last night and weather bureau prediction for today was fair and warmer.

The forecast added, however, that the cold spell is by no means broken and that zero weather probably will return Tuesday.

PAINESVILLE. — (Associated Press.) — The water supply and electric power of this city was cut off this morning with the freezing of the two foot intake pipes at the city pumping station, shutting down practically all business activities.

With the shutting off of the water supply last night, homes were thrown into darkness, the danger of fire increased and policemen and firemen took every precaution to prevent even the smallest blazes. The temperature registered 15 degrees below zero last night.

CHICAGO. — (Associated Press.) — The middle west, plus states and northwest welcomed a return of normal temperatures today while the sub-zero blasts that wrought havoc for forty-eight hours spent themselves in attacks on the east and south. But it is feared that the relief is only temporary for colder weather again has appeared over the western Canadian province.

A recapitulation of the effects of the cold at Chicago shows a loss of seventeen lives directly attributable to it, and that the 16 degrees below zero reached, broke a record of 12 years. Thermometers today had climbed more than 40 degrees from the lowest point reached, however, and generally fair weather for a few days at least is forecast.

With the exception of Florida the entire south was held ice-bound Sunday but the forecast indicates the mercury will rise during the day.

South Carolina thruout Sunday shivered in its coldest snap since January, 1918, the temperature dropping to four degrees above at Columbia. Georgia suffered with the cold, especially in the northern and central parts. The thermometer registered four-tenths of a degree above zero. In Atlanta Sunday an aged woman was reported frozen to death.

THREE DEATHS IN GEORGIA

One negro was reported frozen to death and a white girl and a negro were burned to death while trying to keep warm, as a result of the low temperature of Saturday night and early Sunday morning in Macon, Ga.

North Carolina experienced one of its coldest days Sunday since 1918, the mercury falling to eight degrees below zero in the mountains and to 12 above on the coast.

Alabama reported one fatality at Sheffield as a result of zero weather. Seeking warmth from zero weather by standing in front of an open fire place, a fifteen-year-old girl of Fayetteville, Tenn., received burns from which she died this morning. No deaths were attributed to the cold snap in Memphis, or surrounding territory and the mid-south. Low temperatures will mean a profit of millions of dollars to this region when casualties are counted among the boll weevils.

Ice formed on the Mississippi Sound at Bay St. Louis, Miss., early today for the first time in 21 years.

The ice was of sufficient strength to permit skating as far out as one thousand feet from shore.

The cold weather in New Orleans and vicinity Saturday night and Sunday was responsible for six deaths. New Orleans was visited by the first freeze of the year Sunday with ice everywhere. Reports from the interior and coast points in Louisiana and Mississippi told of temperatures ranging from 12 to 16 degrees.

Seven building and loan associations whose assets were $12,038,361.83 and whose mortgage loans totaled $9,851,183.95.

RETAIL BUSINESS

Nine hundred and 75 retail establishments in the city and vicinity, doing a total retail business estimated at $40,000,000 of which $4,000,000 was automobiles sold at retail only.

Twelve thousand, two hundred and fifty homes of which 8,200 are owned by the persons living in them.

In 1923 there were 11,000 pleasure automobiles and 1,820 business trucks.

One of the most interesting facts discussed by Morton in his pamphlet is the transportation situation in this city. He shows that there are five railroads entering the city and during 1923 they carried 138,405 outbound passengers and handled 2,519,179 tons of freight for the city.

INTERURBAN LINES

There are five electric interurban lines, the report says, and these carried 672,328 outbound passengers and 82,248 tons of freight for the city.

The street railway company handled 3,835,519 passengers during the year. There are also, the pamphlet says, three national highways entering this city.

There were, during the year just closed, 12,000 users of electric light and power, 11,000 users of gas, 9,035 users of water and 12,500 users of telephone, according to the little booklet.

Lima ranks well in educational lines there being 16 public schools in the city with a total of 8,177 students and 248 teachers. Then there are three parochial schools employing 36 teachers and having 1,285 children in attendance. Lima boasts 35 churches, one business college and three newspapers, according to the booklet.

RECREATION

In the field of recreation this city likewise is well to the front for cities of a similar size. Statistics show there are three parks with an area of 317 acres, 13 playgrounds, a country club, three luncheon clubs, one golf course, eight theatres and one touring camp.

There are five hospitals in the city including the state institution, the tuberculosis hospital and one isolation hospital.

During 1923 the city issued 957 building permits carrying a total valuation of $2,942,527 while the post office receipts for the year amounted to $250,700, sufficient to bring the Lima postoffice into the preferred classification and give Postmaster Gale an extra assistant for the mail work.

From the time of its first census in 1850 the city has never gone back or stood still in population, according to the pamphlet. There were 757 people here in the 1850 census, other population figures being: 1860 census, 1,989; 1870, 4,500; 1880, 7,567; 1890, 15,981; 1900, 21,723; 1910, 30,598; 1920, 41,376 and the Polk survey for 1923 shows a population of 51,503.

For a long time, so runs the story, Miss Allen King, shown above, former Follies star and noted musical comedy actress, was engaged to Carl Weidenman, millionaire and owner of the famous race horse in Memoriam. Weidenman wanted his fiancée to give up the stage, something Miss King refused to do. And so matters stood until the famous race between In Memoriam, Zev and My Own. In Memoriam won, and the telegram of congratulation from Miss King sounded so sweet that Weidenman gave in. Now, it is reported, they will wed soon. And Miss King will follow her career!

GRAND JURY EMPOWERED TO INDICT

Judge Fred C. Becker Seeks Action on Security Gambling

JAIL SURVEY REQUESTED

Need of Secrecy Emphasized in Instruction to Members

Special instructions for the investigation of the operation of bucketshops and gambling on margin in Allen Co. were given to the members of the grand jury by Judge Fred C. Becker, Monday.

"I particularly enjoin you to look into any violation of the law relating to bucketshops and margin gambling," declared the court, "and to bring an indictment if it is found that such violations exist within the confines of the county."

Judge Becker told the jurors they have the power to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses whom they believe can give them information desired.

RIGHT TO INITIATE

The jury was told to look into all other law violations, and was instructed that as a body the jury has the right to initiate investigations.

Judge Becker cautioned the jury against bringing in needless indictments. No purposes of justice are served, he said, if a prisoner is indicted, when the evidence is not sufficient to warrant a probable conviction.

The need of secrecy was emphasized upon the jurors by the court. Each member is sworn to keep inviolate matters coming to attention at the bench.

If this is not done, Judge Becker said criminals may be afforded opportunity to escape before officers can apprehend them, and persons accused at crime, who are not guilty may be injured.

VISIT JAIL IS ORDER

The jury was instructed to visit the county jail before adjournment, and to file a report to the court on the condition of the building, and whether or not it is a suitable place for confinement of prisoners.

Twelve persons in custody for alleged crimes are to come before the jury. W. J. Howers was appointed foreman of the jury before its investigations commenced.

Three former county officials are serving on the jury. They are R. J. Tolson, former probate clerk; Charles W. Baxter, former sheriff; and Steve Bolton, former deputy sheriff.

Other members are Mrs. Elizabeth Drury, H. A. Ayers, J. F. Doyle, Mrs. C. J. Hanco, W. J. Bowers, foreman; Robert Heffner, Nellie Bresnan, Adolph Mox, E. E. Boyer, A. Cremon, W. J. Jenkins, and C. H. Mosler.

HEATING WORKING

Installation of the grand jury may be called to the lack of reliable heating facilities in the county jail. The jurors are to inspect the building before reporting to the court.

The jail and court house are supplied by heat from the central plant, but neither building was very comfortable Saturday.

Sunday prisoners in the jail got wrapped in blankets, shivering round the life warm radiators. The temperature was not actually below freezing, according to Sheriff Croson, but was too cold for comfort.

All extra bedding owned by the county was pressed into service to make inmates more comfortable at night.

STUDENT ON TRIAL

Texas Young Man Faces Charge of Murder

HOUSTON, Tex. — (United Press.) — Defense attorneys today planned a vigorous fight to free Robert J. Robinson, 22-year-old former Texas University student of charges of having murdered Mrs. Mollie Ruth Dudley, 24-year-old divorcee.

They will attempt to show that the youth killed the woman after he had learned of plans for her to elope with his father, Dr. C. E. Robinson.

Dave Blaylock, taxi driver, at the preliminary hearing, testified to overhearing the elopement plans while driving the boy's father and Mrs. Dudley.

The entire fight to save the youth from the electric chair will center on the contention that he shot the woman to preserve the Robinson family circle. The boy was remanded to jail without bond after the preliminary hearing.

PRIZE PEACE PLAN BACKS WORLD COURT

U. S. SUPPORT OF LEAGUE URGED

Proposal is Result of Contest Financed by Edward Bok

WINNER'S NAME WITHHELD

Author Gets Half of $100,000 Award as People Vote

This is the first installment of the winning Peace plan. The last half will be printed Tuesday.

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—The people of the United States are voting today on the proposal to have their government adopt the program selected by the American people as the "best" practical plan by which the United States can cooperate with other nations to preserve the peace of the world.

The program is the one selected by the jury of 22 countries and submitted from 22 countries to the contest for the $100,000 award by Edward W. Bok for the most practical means for the United States to cooperate with other nations in the preservation of peace.

NAME NOT REVEALED

The name of the author will not be revealed until the people have finished voting on it early in February. He already has received $50,000, half of the prize, and will receive the balance if the program is approved.

The plan was numbered 1,469 and was known only by such designation to the jury, only one person, a delegated member of the jury being cognizant of the winner's name.

Through coupons printed in daily and weekly newspapers and in magazines to public will vote. Written criticisms of the plan also will be received.

Announcement of his $100,000 prize was made by Bok on July 1, 1920, and on Nov. 15, the contest closed.

Bok's award was followed by the action last week of Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, in offering $100,000 for an European competition for the best plan for restoring prosperity to the war stricken continent.

Filene frankly credited his action to inspiration received from the Bok award.

The complete manuscript of plan No. 1469, providing for cooperation between the United States and other nations "to achieve and preserve the peace of the world" is given below, including the author's reasoning:

Five-sixths of all the nations including about four-fifths of mankind have already created a world-organization, the purpose of which is "to promote international cooperation and to achieve international peace and security."

Those nations cannot and will not abandon this system which has been actively operating for three and a half years. If leading members of the United States government ever had serious hopes that another association of nations could be formed, such hopes were dispelled during the Washington conference by plain intimations from other powers that there is not room for more than one organization like the League of Nations.

The states outside the organized world are not of such a character that the United States could hope to cooperate with them for the purpose named.

Therefore, the only possible path to cooperation in which the United States can take an increasing share is that which leads toward some form of agreement with the world as now organized, called the League of Nations.

By sheer force of social international gravitation such cooperation becomes inevitable.

UNITED STATES COOPERATION

The United States government, theoretically maintaining a policy of isolation, has actually gone far, since March 4, 1921, toward "cooperation with other nations to achieve and preserve the peace of the world."

The most familiar part of the story is the work of the Washington conference, wherein President Harding's administration made a beginning of naval disarmament, opened to China a prospect of rehabilitation and joined with Great Britain, Japan and France to make the Pacific ocean worthy of its name.

Later came the recommendation that the United States should adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Not long after that action President Harding wrote to Bishop Gallor:

"I do not believe any man can confront the responsibility of a president of the United States and yet adhere to the idea that it is possible for our country to maintain an attitude of isolation and aloofness in the world."

But since the proposed adhesion to the permanent court would bring this country into close contact at one time and point with the League of Nations, and since such action is strenuously opposed for exactly that reason, it is pertinent to inquire not only how much cooperation with the league and its organs has been proposed during the life of the present administration, but also how much has been actually begun.

LEAGUE COMMISSIONS

The United States government has accredited its representatives to sit as members "in an unofficial and consulting capacity" upon four of the most important social welfare

Health, opium, traffic in women and children, and anthrax (Industrial hygiene.)

Our government is a full member of the international hydrographic bureau, an organ of the league. Our government was represented by an "unofficial observer" in the Brussels conference (finance and economic commission) in 1920. It sent Hon. Stephen O. Porter and Bishop Brent to represent it at the meeting of the opium commission last May.

Our public health service has taken part in the serological congresses of the epidemics commission and has helped in the experimental work for the standardization of serums.

Our government collaborates with the league health organization through the international office of public agriculture committees of the league labor organization through the international institute of agriculture at Rome.

In February, 1923, Secretary Hughes and President Harding formally recommended that the senate approve our adhesion to the permanent court under four conditions or reservations, one of which was that the United States should officially participate in the election of judges by the assembly and council of the league, sitting as electoral colleges for that purpose.

Unofficial cooperation from the United States with the work of the league includes membership in five of the social welfare commissions or committees of the league, in one on economic reconstruction, and in one (Aaland Island) which averted a war. American women serve as expert assessors upon the opium and traffic in women commissions.

Two philanthropic agencies in the United States have between them pledged more than $400,000 to support either the work of the epidemics commission or the league inquiry into conditions of the traffic in women and children.

The United States being already so far committed to united counsels with League agencies for the common social welfare, all of which have some bearing upon the preservation of world peace, the question before us may take this form:

How can increasing cooperation between the United States and the organized world for the promotion of peace and security be assured, in forms acceptable to the people of the United States and hopefully practicable?

Without any change in its present policy, already described, the United States government, could, first, show its willingness to cooperate similarly with the other humane and reconstructive agencies of the league. To four of these agencies that government had already sent delegates with advisory powers. It could as properly accept invitations to accredit members with like powers to each one of the other welfare commissions. It has already received invitations from two of the latter.

It is, secondly, immediately practicable to extend the same kind of cooperation, whenever asked to do it, so as to include participation in the work of the commissions and technical committees of the labor organization. The record shows that such cooperation is already begun.

The single common purpose of all these committees is the collection and study of information, on which may be based subsequent recommendations for national legislation.

All conventions and resolutions, recommended by the first three congresses of the international labor organization, have already been laid before the senate of the United States and, without objection, referred to the appropriate committee. No different procedure would have been followed if the United States were a member of the labor organization of the league.

A third immediately practicable step is the senate's approval of the proposal that the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

These three suggestions for increasing cooperation, with the family of nations are in harmony with policies already adopted by our government, and in the last case with a policy so old and well recognized that it may now be called traditional.

They do not involve a question of membership in the League of Nations as now constituted, but it cannot be denied that they lead to the threshold of that question. Any further step toward cooperation must confront the problem of direct relations between the United States and the assembly and council of fifty-four nations in the league.

ACTUAL OPERATION

The practical experience of the league during its first three and a half years of life has not only wrought out, in a group of precedents, the beginnings of what might be called the constitutional law of the league, but it has also shifted the emphasis in activities of the league and foreshadowed important modifications in its constitution, the covenant.

At its birth the covenant of the league bore, vaguely in Article X and more clearly in Article XVI, the impression of a general agreement to enforce and coerce. Both of those articles suggest the action of a world-state which never existed and does not now exist. How far the present league is actually removed from functioning as such a state is sufficiently exhibited in its dealings with Lithuania and Poland over Vilna and their common boundary, and with Greece and Italy over Corfu.

Experience in the last three years has demonstrated probably in superable difficulties in the way of fulfilling in all parts of the world the large promise of article X in respect to either its letter or its spirit. No one now expects the league council to try to summon armies and fleets, since it utterly failed to obtain even an international police force for the Vilna district.

Each assembly of the league has witnessed vigorous efforts to interpret and modify article X. In the fourth assembly an attempt to adopt an interpretation of that article in essential agreement with the senatorial reservation on the same subject in 1920 was blocked only by a small group of weak states like Persia and Panama which evidently attributed to article X a protective power that it possesses only on paper.

Such states, in possible fear of unfriendly neighbors, must decide whether the preservation of a form of words in the covenant is more vital to their peace and security and to the peace and security of the world, than the presence of the United States at the council table of the family of nations.

As to article XVI, the council of the league created a blockade commission which worked for two years to determine how the "economic weapon" of the league could be efficiently used and uniformly applied. The commission failed to discover any obligatory procedure that weaker powers would dare to accept. It was finally agreed that each state must decide for itself whether a breach of the covenant has been committed.

The second assembly adopted a radically amended form of article XVI from which was removed all reference to the possibility of employing military force and in which the abandonment of uniform obligation was directly provided for. The British government has since proposed to weaken the form of requirement still further.

Articles X and XVI, in their original forms, have therefore been practically condemned by the principal organs of the league and are today reduced to something like innocuous domesticity. The only kind of commission which nations can safely engage to apply to each other in the name of peace is that which arises from conference, from mutual judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

Warning to Gas Consumers In Lima

Since Saturday afternoon we have experienced a very severe shortage of Natural gas from the Medina Company's fields. It has been necessary to use our Artificial gas Plant to full capacity, in order to furnish our patrons with an adequate supply of gas.

Sunday morning the supply of Natural gas was still shorter and all day Sunday we were unable to obtain any gas from the transmission lines from the field.

The condition is very critical and we ask everyone to be as economical as possible in the use of gas during extreme cold weather.

As the supply of Natural gas decreases we are obliged to increase the Manufactured gas, or our customers will be entirely without service.

Some of our consumers may experience some trouble, as Manufactured gas can not be burned, successfully, in NATURAL GAS appliances without adjustments. Should you meet with any difficulties, NOTIFY THE COMPANY, AT ONCE, and we will send our men to make the necessary adjustments, FREE OF CHARGE.

We feel that you will cooperate with us, at this time, as we are doing everything in our power to give you uninterrupted gas service. You are especially warned to be very careful in the use of gas and give attention to all appliances burning in the home, trouble may be experienced in keeping the gas burning until your gas appliances are adjusted to Manufactured gas.

Do not hesitate to call us at any hour of the day or night.

PUNISHING PRISONERS

EVERY time a disturbance occurs at a state institution, due to an incipient uprising of refractory inmates, there is a hue and cry raised by many, who shout volubly concerning "cruel-ties" practiced, when they knew nothing about the real situation, only as they heard it from the lips of others who are perhaps no better informed.

One needs but to visit a state correctional institution to get the proper hint on the conditions: officials are forced to face day and night. It is not a bed of roses by any means. While there have been in the past in cases where unnecessary cruelties have been inflicted on prisoners, and doubtless will be others in the future—the fact remains that there are two sides to the question.

An outbreak a week ago among inmates of the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, where a night and a day of rioting resulted in several of the girls being injured, two making their escape and state property damaged to the extent of a thousand dollars, has afforded "food" for those who are opposed to corporal punishment for the enforcement of discipline.

It was the very lack of this sort of a program at Delaware that resulted in trouble. The girls, many of them degenerates who could or would not discipline themselves in their home communities, and who refused to submit to restriction laid for the maintenance of public decency, are segregated at the state institution, where every effort is made to bring about reformation.

Many of them respond to kind treatment; others will not. The defiant minority persist in making trouble. Outbreaks are certain to occur. Punishment is necessary to maintain discipline. But it can be accomplished without cruelty. Those who howl against corporal punishment in state institutions should be given the task of conducting them for a short time. Their viewpoint would undergo a change.

YOUR BOSS

THE greatest international sport is the popular pastime, "panning the boss." You find it in all occupations—trades, professions, politics, the army—wherever people carry on any sort of activity involving leadership and its accompanying authority.

"Panning the boss," begins with the toddling child, pouting its resentment at "Must do this!" and "Must not do that!" It continues all thru life, right up to the door of the graveyard, with the old man grumbling at the passing of old-time forms of authority and their replacement by the changed boss system of the new generation.

Go where you will, you cannot escape hearing people pan their bosses. Forever there is grumbling at existing authority—on the farm, in factory, in office, in the home, all the way from the complicated organization of metropolitan life to the Eskimo mumbling about the Hudson Bay agent who buys his furs, or the tropical jungle native grumbling because he doesn't get more glass beads from his boss, the trading post buyer.

People have such an instinctive hatred of authority, it's a wonder they are able to co-operate in any form of government, even democracy. Man at heart is a philosophical anarchist, hating leaders. Occasionally men are hypnotized by a leader like Napoleon into flinging their personal freedom to the winds and rallying in emotional ecstasy to the leader. That's as rare as it's brief.

The only reason people stand for a boss at all is because they are jealous of the boss—have a secret hope that, if they support the boss system, they have a chance of becoming boss themselves. The grumbling and the panning continue, nevertheless.

Forever there is a boss. The foreman has his boss, the shop superintendent. He, in turn, answers to the general manager whose boss is the board of directors. The board has its boss, the bankers and stockholders and tax collectors. So on and on, an endless chain, always a Higher Power.

'PHONE TALKERS

HOW often do you use the phone? Nearly 25 billion conversations a year pass over the telephone wires. This is about 230 calls for every man, woman and child in the country. Less than one a day.

There's a phone for approximately every seven Americans. So the average phone is used about 1600 times a year.

Many now living can recall when the phone was only a toy of the experimenters. With this precedent, it's safe to make almost any prediction for the future of radio and airplane.

DON'T GET MAD ABOUT IT

A maxim manufacturer by the name of Syrus Publus Syrus, who was the Henry Ford of his day as regards quantity production, said that "When Fortune wishes to destroy she first makes mad." A chap named Dryden took this B. C. model and converted it into an Elizabethan model when it was 1700 years old. The madness of those days was the thing we call insanity now, but just the same it is perfectly good pathology to say that the fellow who gets mad about anything is to all intents insane. So after all the meaning of madness hasn't changed a great deal.

Anger is an emotion, which, like father's famous razor stop party, hurts the subject more than it does the object. It impedes both mental and physical effort; sometimes, indeed, it kills. The man with hardened arteries may suffer apoplexy (cerebral hemorrhage, stroke of paralysis) from a fit of anger. John Hunter, the famous surgeon, who had angina pectoris, said that his life was in the hands of any rascal who chose to annoy him, and sure enough, the fatal attack occurred during a fit of anger.

Anger immediately stops secretion in the stomach and delays digestion for a considerable period, as Professor Cannon tells so interestingly in his book "Bodily Change in Pain, Hunger, Fear and Rage." (D. Appleton & Co.); so when Pa gets mad because Ma hasn't made any pie for supper it is lucky for Pa she didn't make any, for he couldn't digest it in such a state of fury anyway.

On reading that over again and thinking hard about it I have a vague premonition that it isn't quite logical, but it struck me as a happy and pertinent illustration as I lay dreaming in my twilight sleep this morning. At that it is not so foolish as getting mad, I dare say.

Now, says a good book unto me. Open my pages and you shall see Jewels of wisdom and treasure—gold and silver in every line. And you may claim them if you but will.

Open my pages and take your fill. Take what you choose of my golden store.

Be you greedy, I shall not care—All that you seize I shall gladly spare. There is never a lock on my treasure doors. Come in for my jewels and make them yours.

I am just a book on your mantel shelf. But I can be part of your living self.

If once you'll travel my pages thru, I can then travel the world with you.

As two wheels blended make better way. Blend your mind with these truths of mine.

I'll make you fitter to talk with men. I'll touch with silver the lines you pen.

I'll lead you nearer the truth you seek. I'll strengthen you when your faith grows weak.

This place on your shelf is a prison cell. Let me come into your mind to dwell!

THIS LITTLE WORLD

LONDON

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON — (Special) — Americans may be the greatest advertisers in the world, but I doubt if any concern can beat the London subway trust. In the spring, summer, autumn, as the various flowers and fruits come into season in the country, London is placarded with beautiful posters designed to tempt people to the countryside. But one funny bone.

In summer, when the weather occasionally does really get hot, as we Americans understand hot weather, the subway entrances are gaily placarded:

"Use the subway. It's cooler down below."

In winter, when the raw fogs have come, these same entrances are placarded:

"Use the subway. It's warmer down below."

When the season of torrential rain arrives the same entrances have billboards, reading:

"Use the subway. It's dryer down below."

Seemingly there is only one thing the subway managers have overlooked. They have never yet advertised:

"Use the subway. It's wetter down below."

Camille Flammarion, the world-famous French astronomer and author, attended a banquet in Paris the other day, being seated next to a woman who was bound to make conversation.

"Master, what is on the side of the moon that we on earth never see?"

"I don't know."

"Are there any live volcanoes on the moon?"

"I don't know."

"Do you think there may be living animals or plants on the other side of the moon?"

"I don't know."

"Dear master, you must be joking. If not, what is the use of being a great scientist?"

"The advantage, dear madame, is that sometimes one may honestly say one does not know."

Probably there is no author in the world who has more fans in America than J. M. Barrie, the author of "Peter Pan."

Once Barrie lived next door to a family which numbered a half dozen bright children. He was a great pal. In his next play, he used a joke that one of them had sprung on his brothers and sisters. Barrie scrupulously held that if the joke was good enough to use, it was good enough to pay for.

So Barrie solemnly made out a check to the boy. He paid him a farthing royalty for every performance. A farthing, be it remembered, is about a quarter of a cent.

TAX QUESTION IS ALSO UP

Extended Debates Between Solons Are in Prospect

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Congress still awaiting important legislation from its committee had the way cleared today for discussion of important domestic and international issues. Taxes and prohibition were subjects of set speeches in the House, while in the Senate the question of the recognition of the Soviet government of Russia was up for discussion.

Chairman Lodge of the Foreign Relations Committee, had prepared address in support of the administration policy of non-recognition and Senator Borah, Idaho, prepared a reply in support of his recognition resolution.

With an extended debate in prospect, little possibility of a general hallooing for a chairmen of the interstate commerce committee as there appeared to be no likelihood of a break in the deadlock.

This Representative Fear of Wisconsin, a leader in the Republican majority group, intended to go into details of what he believed should be done in amending the present act.

Another row over prohibition was expected by the determination of Representative Hill, Republican, Maryland, to make sharp answer to the address last week of Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, who demanded that all government revenues high and low strictly adhere to the Volstead act.

At least half a dozen important, confronted the determination of Representative Hill, Republican, Maryland, to make sharp answer to the address last week of Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, who demanded that all government revenues high and low strictly adhere to the Volstead act.

There also was increased activity among Senate committees, the agricultural committee having filed before it a number of leaders of farm organizations to present their views on agricultural measures. Open hearings are continuing this week.

Orders to firemen to disregard regulation uniform and dress for comfort were handed out by Fire Chief Mack after firemen returned from four fires with ears frosted, feet nearly frozen and noses a rosy red from the wind and snow.

DEATH MYSTERY GROWS DEEPER

Clues to Killing of Canton Girl
Are Abandoned

PROBE CONTINUES, HOWEVER

Sheriff Believes Victim Drugged

CANTON — (United Press) — The mystery surrounding the death of Miss Ruth Hunter, whose body was found near a Canton road Wednesday, appears to grow deeper today.

One of one clues upon which authorities spent many hours, have been abandoned. But the investigators have not given up hope of solving the case.

Sheriff C. W. Kirk discovered one clue that he believes may be important. Irving Smith, 15, living in a lane near where the girl's body was found, told the sheriff that on the night of Miss Hunter's death, he heard a disturbance in their chicken coop.

He called it to the attention of his folks. They, too, heard the noise, repeated twice. Soon after the family heard an automobile start. The family watched the machine go up the lane until it passed out of sight up the road. The car was headed toward the place where the girl's body was found.

SHERIFF'S THEORY

The sheriff believes that what the Smith family thought were the squeaking of chickens were the smothered cries of the girl for help.

Their opinion is that the girl's companion had attempted to chloroform her. He discovered that he had used too much of the drug, became frightened and his first impulse was to rush her to a hospital.

Their theory is that when out on the road he discovered that the girl was dead, he then stopped his car, laid the body carefully by the road, and spent away.

This would seem to account for the fact that no serious wound was found on the body.

Albert Schandle told the authorities that he saw the headlights of an automobile coming over the hill a few minutes after the Smith boy says he heard the disturbance near his home.

Schandle, who lives a quarter of a mile from the Smith home, also told authorities that he heard the screeching of brakes shortly after he saw the automobile headlights. The body was found near Schandle's home.

The body has been placed in a vault to facilitate a further examination of it, if developments warrant.

AMERICANS HELD BY BANDITS

Ten Are Trapped by Gangsters in Chinese City

VICTIMS FACE STARVATION

Surrounding Towns Are Burned
by the Savages

PEKING — (United Press) — Ten Americans are surrounded by Tibetan bandit hordes in the city of Batang, in western Sze Chuan, and are in imminent peril of starvation, according to the reports to the American legation here.

Other foreigners are likewise trapped.

The savage Tibetans poured over the border into China recently, the report stated and surrounded the walled city of Batang, burning and looting all surrounding towns.

Chinese garrisons of the district fled, or had disappeared shortly before the appearance of the savages, and assistance is declared impossible for weeks.

Civil officials of Batang fled.

LIST OF AMERICANS

The Americans who are left behind, facing death from starvation or capture by the Thibetian hordes, are M. H. Duncan, his wife and son; Slim Hardy, wife and three sons all of the foreign Christian Mission society, and J. R. Morse and wife of the United Christian Mission.

Batang, where American missionaries are reported surrounded by Thibetian bandits, is in the extreme western part of China a few miles from the mountains of Thibet. It lies some 1,500 miles west-southwest of Peking, in an isolated part of the Szechuan province.

If the Chinese garrison along the Thibetian border at this point have fled as reported the missionaries have been left in dire peril, for the ferocious little flat-faced brown men from the hills are among the most feared of the east's bandits.

Defending their own country and denying entry to all foreigners with an unparalleled religious ferocity, the Thibetian hordes are almost savages, when they resort to sorties into neighboring China.

Short in stature, seldom reaching a height of more than five feet, six inches, the Thibetian tribesmen are wiry and strong, fierce fighters both afoot and on the tough little mountain ponies on which they make their raids. They are merciless to captives and notoriously without regard for women and children.

CITY MANAGER TAKES OATH OF OFFICE TONIGHT

CLEVELAND — City Manager William Hopkins will take the oath of office tonight and Cleveland will be the first large city to have the manager form of government. The oath will be administered by Clayton S. Townes, president of city council, who will become mayor.

The ceremony will be part of the first official meeting of the new city council, elected last November by proportional representation.

With the induction into office of the new city manager, Fred Kohler, one of the most picturesque mayors Cleveland ever had, retired to private life. He expects to sail for South America Thursday.

Several members of the cabinet will be presented to city council by City Manager Hopkins who announced last night. Carl E. Shuler becomes law director; William S. Ferguson service director; Frank S. Harmon park director and Dudley S. Blossom welfare director.

William J. Murphy, former postmaster and secretary to Newton D. Baker when he was mayor, was appointed secretary to Manager Hopkins.

CULTIVATION OF POPPY REGULATES CART PRICES

PEKING — The extent to which the poppy, for the manufacture of opium, is being cultivated in the province of Kansu is illustrated by the experience of travellers who try to hire carts. The only mode of travel in some portions of the province. Owing to the fact that practically all carters were engaged in transportation of opium, the price demanded per day for a cart varied from one tael (about 80 cents) if the carter was permitted to carry opium at the same time, to $48 Chinese currency (approximately $24) if objection were raised to this arrangement.

In many towns it was said practically all of the inhabitants have reverted to the use of the drug, and the cultivation of the poppy is carried on more intensively than ever before.

Third of Establishments Fail to Get 1924 Permits

Approximately one-third of the soft drink cafes and billiard parlors in Lima have failed to take out the city licenses for 1924, a report compiled by police after a one week investigation discloses.

Thirty-nine places were found operating without the new permits required under the municipal code and 70 soft drink cafes and billiard parlors presented permits when police visited their business establishments.

Orders to abide by the license code or else face prosecution were given by police to delinquents. Chief Lanker has a list of offenders and after warning if they fail to secure permits arrests will be made, Lanker said.

Cod Liver Oil Now
In Tasteful Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fish-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of magnesia.

Thin, run-down, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. Hunter's Drug Stores, Lintner's Drug Store or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only sixty cents for 60 tablets.

TUT'S COFFIN LID 4 INCHES THICK

Bars Way For Further Investigation of Monarch's Tomb

WORK OF PROBES DELAYED

Mummy Of King Will Be Unwrapped Next Season

LUXOR, Egypt — (Associated Press) — Howard Carter's surprising last minute decision on Thursday to postpone further work on Tutankhamun's shrine and open the doors of the successive caskets to establish whether the pharaoh's sarcophagus was really within has given him the satisfaction of knowing that at length his ambition has been realized and that this modest tomb with its wealth of treasure is indeed the sepulchre of the mystery monarch.

The frieze of inscriptions on the pink stone coffin, freely interspersed with Tutankhamun's cartouches, definitely establishes this, but the immense and solid lid of the coffin, which is perhaps four inches thick, effectively bars the way to further investigation until the surrounding shrines shall have been dismantled.

The world will have to wait until next season before the mummy of the king can be unwrapped and radiographed to establish two important historical points, namely the age at time of death of this ruler, who is everywhere portrayed as a slim, handsome, athletic youth, and whether the cause of death was natural or Tutankhamun died, as some hold, slain by his successor, King Ay.

An official communiqué confirms the recent announcement that the Egyptian government has decided to leave the king's body where it lies in the sarcophagus following the precedent set in the case of Amenhotep, II, whose mummy lies in its brown stone coffin exactly as discovered in its tomb in the Valley of the Kings.

It is not yet known whether further treasures are between the walls made of the newly opened springs, but it is understood the doors in their present position will effectively prevent the excavators from exploring the recesses between the caskets until they are successively dismantled.

A complete motion picture record of this week's discoveries has been made.

Ohio Conference Fives Shake Themselves To Begin Schedule Games

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Ohio conference fives shakes themselves loose this week, and engage in 13 clashes, in which every member of the circuit takes a hand.

Altho last week was one of inactivity for varsity teams, the few conference games that were played were upsets.

Cincinnati and Baldwin-Wallace probably made the most startling dope upsets. The Queen City cagers ran wild over the supposedly strong Wooster College five and kicked them 21 to 7.

This week Baldwin-Wallace takes on a Cleveland five in Western Reserve, which team has not fared so well in pre-conference battles.

What seems most likely to be the best of the Ohio conference is the one in which the Cincinnati team will play the Akron team.

Over the week-end, the Akron team will play the Cincinnati team, and the Cincinnati team will play the Akron team.

The Akron team is expected to be the champion of the conference, and the Cincinnati team is expected to be the runner-up.

The story of the major league pitcher has changed greatly in the last 10 years. The difference between the pitcher of today and the pitcher of 10 years ago is not only in the way he pitches, but in the way he is treated.

Rickard Anxious To Match Harry Wills With George Godfrey

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK.—(United Press)—Renewed efforts are to be made by Tex Rickard this week to match Harry Wills and George Godfrey for a bout in a general heavyweight elimination tournament.

Rickard would like to match the winner with Firpo and let Dempsey have the survivor of that match.

Little may come of the attempt, but Rickard said he was still hopeful despite his failure during several months of negotiations.

"Firpo, Wills and Gibbons are now claiming priority rights to a match with Dempsey," Rickard said.

To satisfy them it would be necessary to have three heavyweight championship fights next summer. Three are too many. In fact, it is enough work to put over one big spectacle in a season.

"Firpo, as far as I have been able to learn, is the only one of the three contenders who is willing to take the chance of proving his right to a match with Dempsey by fighting a real contender," Rickard said.

Wills claims that his right is established and that he does not need to prove it. That he is the outstanding challenger. He is willing, however, to fight Gibbons or Jack Remont.

"I am not certain what Gibbons wants to do and I have not made any serious efforts to get him a heavyweight match, as I think he belongs to the light-heavyweight class."

"Firpo is willing to fight Wills, Gibbons or any of the contenders and I would like to get him a match because he is a fighter and a great one. It is true that he was knocked out in two rounds by Dempsey, but he is the only heavyweight who has knocked Dempsey off his feet since he won the title."

Rickard intimated that Wills could get $100,000 out of a match with Firpo and he didn't seem sure that he could offer that much money to the next opponent for Dempsey. The champion demands so much money that there isn't much left for the opponent.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, insisted that all efforts to match his charge with any of the contenders are designed to make Wills look bad and that he does not have to prove his right for the title.

JUDGES SHOULD BE ELIMINATED IN BOXING BOUTS

The elimination of the two judges, and a return to the referee as the sole authority, is the only solution to the menace that now threatens the fight game in New York, due to unjust decisions. The award in the last half dozen big fights staged in New York has met with much adverse criticism. When the leading sport writers, experts in the fight game, are in a unit in condemning the rulings, something must be radically wrong. A constant recurrence of these poor rulings has caused the public to become suspicious. However, no logical reason for such a suspicion has been confirmed. Rather it looks as if the rulings rendered were honest enough but incompetent.

In no sport does the public always agree with the officials in charge. Difference of opinion is what creates interest. If sport officials never err the old alibi, sportdom's favorite excuse, would no longer exist.

Baseball umpires are perhaps taken to task more often than any other official, yet never has the honesty of baseball been questioned because of the rulings of the umpires. Umpires make many mistakes. They are accused of making more than they actually commit. Often fandom disagrees with the baseball umpire in no uncertain manner, yet never in the history of the game has an umpire been charged with doing anything crooked. Never has anyone insinuated that fifty cents has influenced the rulings of the baseball umpire.

The sports enthusiast disagrees with the umpire often but always has implicit confidence in his honesty. When President Johnson championed the cause of the umpire he built for baseball a strong foundation, the confidence of the fan in the judge of play. In the eyes of the fan there may be no good umpires, but they are honest.

While poor decisions by the three men in charge of all New York boxing bouts have jeopardized the sport for the time being, the real trouble is in the government of the sport. Boxing is conducted in a haphazard manner. There is no directing head. The various states have boxing commissions that are supposed to work together, but contact of the game has never been placed on a high plane because of lack of cohesion. Fundamentally that has been the big mistake and it is now making itself apparent in divers ways.

Fearless, competent referees are what the fight game needs. An official with a national reputation having the courage of his convictions would soon restore the confidence of the New York fight fans.

The referee is merely a figurehead in the New York bouts. His compensation is about in keeping with his duties. No longer do referees get the pay that men like Sier, Hurst and White did. For years I was associated with Tim Hurst as a member

His career continues as auspiciously as it has begun, Douglas Fairbanks, Junior, bids fair to acquire a long list of film fans. In "Stephen Steps Out," appearing for the first time at the Quilna, the actor is altogether delightful as the young man who could not make a little history of himself when he had the opportunity to do so.

His support are Theodore Roberts, Noah Beery, Harry Myers and Jack Carter and Fannie Mae Johnson, former member of the cast of "The Silent Command," who has the role of the sweet-faced girl's wife.

"Flaming Youth" at Sigma

Despite the extremely disagreeable weather of Sunday, "Flaming Youth" drew large crowds to the Sigma theatre. The picture is an advance on the film. And although all the elements were not fulfilled, it is a fast moving story with a bit of humor. Young people and older people will like it for the romantic story it tells.

It is a story, in a way, he considers of modern society and tells a romantic story centering around a young man and a young woman. The story is brought up in an atmosphere of unconventional frivolity. It is a story of a young man, the son of a wealthy family, who is in love with a girl who is the daughter of a poor family. The story is a romantic one, and it is a story that will appeal to the young people of the city.

FIRE CALLS KEEP MEN BUSY

Second False Alarm of Year Received Sunday Night

A false alarm sounded at 10:10 p. m. Sunday marked the second false call answered by the department within one week. Two alarms were sent over box 49, one after the other. Firemen responded to the first alarm and the second was recorded at Central department shortly after departure of the fire apparatus.

Ten fire calls were answered between 1 a. m. Saturday and 8 a. m. Monday during the coldest weather which Lima has experienced in years. Six runs were made Saturday when the temperature reached 12 degrees below and on Sunday and Monday morning four summons were answered.

A small blaze was extinguished at 8:50 a. m. Sunday at the home of H. E. Garland, 1563 W. High-st., with small loss. Fire Chief Mack answered a bursted water pipe call at the Maud Dietrich home, 924 E. Linden-st., and a defective fuse at 7:05 p. m. Sunday at the Harding home, 124 Rosedale-av., was extinguished with slight loss.

CHIEFS WON'T ASK FOR INCREASES

Fire and Police Heads Won't Appeal to Commission

Any increase in the personnel of the police and fire departments or increase in pay for members will have to be made by the city commissioners, unsolicited, according to statements made Monday by heads of both departments.

The police department is five members under strength and the fire fighting section of the public safety department is five men under the strength allotted by the city ordinance.

Requests filed with commissioners in the past for full strength in both departments have been unheeded and no further action will be taken by either Police Chief Lanker or Fire Chief Mack, they stated.

On receipt of information from the leading cities of the state it is shown that Lima has the worst proportion for policemen and the next to worst for firemen of any city in the state. Lima has only one policeman for every 1,852 persons and one fireman for every 1,351 persons with the monthly rate of pay at $125, the next to lowest in the state.

COMMON PLEAS COURT HAS 404 PENDING CASES

Cases for trial during the next six weeks were assigned Monday when the bar docket was called in common pleas court.

The new bar docket lists 404 civil cases now on record and pending. Of this number 100 are divorce actions. Divorces form a large percentage of the total number of cases filed, but are usually disposed of in rapid order.

On the other hand cases of other character are delayed and frequently stand on the docket for months and years.

CLEAN YOUR WALKS. IS ULTIMATUM OF POLICE

Cooperation of citizens for compliance with the snow removal ordinance was asked Monday by Police Chief Lanker upon receipt at headquarters of numerous complaints of snow and ice on sidewalks.

In speaking of the ordinance the police chief stated that a maximum of four hours after the cessation of a snowstorm is allowed for removal of snow and upon icy pavements property owners are asked to spread ashes, sawdust or other substances to prevent accidents.

No arrests have been made so far this winter but if complaints continue to enter at headquarters orders for wholesale arrests are promised.

PYTHIAN FOLLIES' CAST BRAVES CHILLING BLASTS

The Follies, which will be presented early in February promises to eclipse by far, the two previous offerings of the Pythian organization.

Charles Cleveland, director, announced the next rehearsal will be held at the K. of P. lodge rooms, S. Main-st., Tuesday evening at 7.

TAXES ARE SLOW, SAYS BOTKINS

Huge Penalties Loom Unless More Speed is Shown

Taxes are trickling into the county treasury too slowly to suit Harry E. Botkins, treasurer, who is facing the task of garnering $700,000 in 11 days.

"They will have to pay and pay fast, if we are able to get all the money in," Botkins said. "Jan. 20 positively is the final day for paying taxes without penalty. If the money is not in on that date, the penalty of 15 per cent will be added."

This means that a property owner paying $100 taxes, would have to fork over $15 extra, or the price of a good pair of shoes, and a new hat.

Approximately $400,000 is already paid into the treasury, according to Botkins.

TWO HELD ON CHARGES OF ROBBERY ROOMING HOUSE CLOTHING WORTH $110

With the arrest Monday morning of two youths on grand larceny charges, police believe they will solve several clothing robberies at rooming houses in the south section of the city.

The accused, who gave their names as Joseph Fisher, Chicago, and Joe L. Nuss, New York, were placed under $500 bail each on grand larceny charges and returned to jail by Judge Neil R. Poling upon failure to provide bail.

An affidavit charging the two with theft of clothing valued at $110 was filed by Jerry Axe, whose room was rifled of an overcoat and two suits of clothing Sunday night.

Police allege the two entered Axe's room, took his clothing and secreted it in an adjoining room which was unoccupied at the time. The accused men denied the charge.
